Summary

- Today I finished my write up for my challenge. I am still waiting to see where I should submit it. I am having someone else go and solve the challenge and see how far they can get.
- I made some good progress with presto but i got stuck again. I realized that the program is creating a new executable that seems to move me up a level.
- I wonder if there is a way I could extract this and auto mate it. I could not go through ida 666 amount of times as that is not a good solution imo. I will continue to work on this through out next week.
