Summary

- Today I finished the RE challenge and wrote a quick write up for it. I made sure to include images and all of my code. I have uploaded this to my github.
- I discussed with some of my coworkers about the project I created. I was relieved to see that it doable and so far I don't have any bugs.
- I did Luke's challenge which I enjoyed. I actually tried solving it a few different ways. One of them was not the attended way but it is a huge vulnerability. I used patching to solve his challenge which is what he wanted. I also tried writing some scripts but the decompiled ghidra code was not very clear.
- I started another RE challenge that proves to be more challenging.
- I plan on doing more challenges next week.
