Summary

- Today I continued my work on presto. I started to work on using the IDC scripting language to split up the massive array I was using.
- I then shifted my focus to create the presentation that we are showing the ManTech Mentors
- I have typed out a general idea of what I want to talk about.
- Tomorrow I will run through it more and make sure I am happy with where it is at.
- Next week we will practice presenting it with the other interns.
- I had to go back into some of the projects I did to get pictures for the presentation.
- I am still working on creating a story behind the RE project.
