5/21/2024 Log

Summary

- Today I focused on the CTF challenged. Once the CTF ends I will upload my notes and all other programs and other information needed for the ctf.

- I was able to solve tunnel. I wish I had a more efficient method but I learned a lot in the process. I learned that I can extract data from binary files using python. I have always wanted to try and do this. I know there has been some challenges where I have been stuck because I did not know how to do this.

- I tried working on the chronomind ai challenge. I was trying to find more information on how to beat the system. I found some interesting things but I was not able to solve it.

- I hope write ups are available because I would love to see the solutions to the challenges that I am stuck on.