6/10/2024 Log

Summary

- I uploaded the write ups to the cyber games ctf. Unfortunately I forgot to make one of the repos private which had the flag. Someone leaked this and I got banned from the CTF...
- I decided to go back and work on the presto flare on challenge.
- I am still working on creating the structs. I am having a hard time creating the data members in way that I will be able to make sense of them. I have a feeling once I figure out how to split up the array I should be able to put some of the pieces together.
- I have been watching videos of how to create the struct but I am now determining how to make the fields make sense.
- Using objdump I was not able to make much sense of it.
- I plan to keep on testing with the structs
- I was able to make sense of more of the functions. I am just confused on what is happening with the file creation. I have a feeling that I need to figure out the correct password for all of these.